Christian A. Zorman, PhD is the F. Alex Nason Professor I in the Department of Electrical, Computer, and Systems Engineering at Case Western Reserve University with secondary faculty appointments in the Department of Biomedical Engineering and the Department of Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering. He also serves as Associate Dean for Research in the Case School of Engineering and Director of the Microfabrication Laboratory. He has authored over 300 publications in peer-reviewed journals and conference proceedings in areas related to micro- and nanotechnology. He specializes in the development of emerging materials and nonconventional processing/fabrication techniques for micro/nanosystems, with a focus on applications in aerospace and human health. He received a B.S. cum laude in physics and a B.A. cum laude in economics from the Ohio State University in 1988, followed by M.S. and Ph.D. in physics from Case Western Reserve University in 1991 and 1994, respectively. He is a Fellow of the AVS and Senior Member of IEEE. He serves as a Senior Topical Editor for IEEE Sensors Letters. In 2009, Professor Zorman received CWRU's John S. Diekhoff Award for Excellence in Graduate Mentoring.
